Salanti Pie Competition

Soslan Slamov and his wife Zarina have ventured into a life-long dream to build a unique pie business where these delicious pies originated from Russia. They have the pandemic lockdown to thank for this opportunity and are now baking Ossetian pies (both sweet and savoury) to make a living and give the Brits the experience of trying something new. Welcome to the birth in the UK of the Salanti Pie!

WIN A DELICIOUS PIE!

Soslan is a dad of three and runs his own educating consulting company, where he helps students from abroad come to the UK to find places in boarding schools, universities, and language schools.

Soslan said, "My wife has been cooking these pies for years and our guests all over the world liked it. The pies are both sweet and savoury".

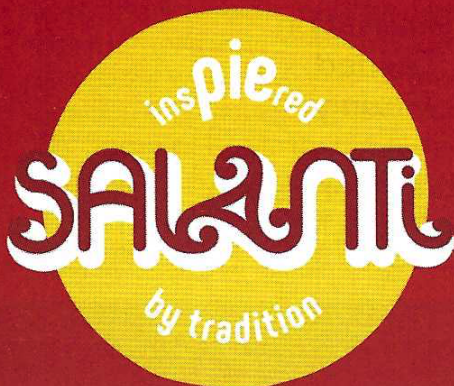

Beaconsfield Together are delighted to work with Salanti Pies and are offering 5 lucky locals the chance to win one of these tasty Russian pies.

The family live in Beaconsfield and have lived in the UK for 27 years, and run their business from home. They are the first Salanti Pie business here in the UK on the market and we are happy to introduce this to their local community here in Beaconsfield.

To enter please go to:
www.beaconsfieldtogether.co.uk/competition to have a chance of winning. Fill out the online form.

The lucky 5 winners will have their photo taken with their pie and featured in a later edition of Beaconsfield Together.

To enter our Summer Competition to win a Salanti Pie visit:
